Summertime Reflection

Feast of St. Mary Magdalene

At Pope Francis's request, St. Mary Magdalene, the one who first witnessed and proclaimed Jesus' resurrection, has been made a major feast marking her as the first evangelizer. Pope Francis took this decision in the context of the Holy Year of Mercy to "signify the importance of this woman, who showed a great love for Christ and was much loved by Christ." St. Thomas Aquinas referred to St. Mary Magdalene as "Apostle of the Apostles," because she was the one who announced Jesus' Resurrection to them and the world.

Liturgically speaking, St. Mary Magdalene's feast, celebrated in July 22, is on par with the celebrations of the male apostles, with a Vatican official hailing her as "an example and model for every woman in the Church." St. Mary Magdalene is the first woman, other than the Blessed Virgin, whose liturgical celebration has been raised to the rank of a feast. St. Mary Magdalene was the first witness to Jesus' Resurrection, and also the one tasked with sharing the news with the apostles and "is an example of true and authentic evangelization; she is an evangelist who announces the joyful central message of Easter. Therefore it is right that the liturgical celebration of this woman has the same grade of feast given to the celebration of the apostles and shines a light on the special mission of this woman, who is an example and model for every woman in the Church."

St. John Paul II also gave special emphasis to the unique role played by Mary Magdalene. She is still important in today's church as demonstrated by the current efforts to promote the new evangelization – which wants to welcome men and women of every race, ethnic group, language and nationality without distinction to announce the good news of the Gospel.

Although the popular imagination - think Dan Brown's The Da Vinci Code - is sometimes tempted to fantasize about Mary Magdalene as Jesus' wife or lover, in Western Christianity she is traditionally been identified with three figures in the New Testament: Mary of Magdala (Lk. 8:2); the sinful woman who anointed Jesus' feet and washed them with her tears (Lk. 7:36-50); and Mary the sister of Lazarus and Martha of Bethany (Lk. 10:38-42, Jn. 11). However, there is certainty that "Mary Magdalene was part of the group of disciples of Jesus, she followed Him to the foot of the cross and to the garden where His tomb was."

She is a reminder of the supreme importance of women in Jesus' ministry, and in the Church's ministry today. Between the time she encountered Christ at the tomb and when she proclaimed his Resurrection to them, Mary Magdalene was the Church on earth because only she understood the full meaning of Jesus' ministry.

"In fact, between the time she encountered Christ at the tomb and when she proclaimed his Resurrection to them, Mary Magdalene was the Church on earth because only she understood the full meaning of Jesus' ministry."

*Help me today, Lord, to do no wrong to my neighbor,
to do no wrong to my family,
to do no wrong to my friends,
to do no wrong to my co-workers,
to do no wrong to strangers,
to do no wrong to anyone,
to do no wrong to myself...
Amen.*

Owe no debt to anyone except the debt that binds us to love one another... Love never wrongs the neighbor... Romans 13

Our Christian life must be based upon a loving relationship with the Lord. Then, whatever we do will be a loving response to love received. It is not how many tasks we complete, but being of service and listening to each individual with whom we meet on our faith journey. By sitting at Jesus' feet Mary shows that all our service ought to be grounded in a lively personal relationship with Him.
